Internationally Conference, 7 March, National Museum of Scotland

'Working Locally, Thinking Globally' considers how museums can respond to the new international context in light of recent world events, while maintaining relevance for both domestic and international audiences.

Is working internationally just a state of mind? Are there practicalities that need to be considered, especially for smaller museums? Ah yes, visas... agencies can help bridge expertise (and funding) gaps...#2018wiconf

Contrasting views on working internationally from the speakers: US-based, @rjstein, and Nina Zdravič from Slovenia which as a Central European country has multiple borders & where international work/ context seems more intrinsic. #2018wiconf
